Headline:
Mostly dry and sunny but cold. Wintry showers in northeast.

Today:
Most places dry with prolonged spells of sunshine, but cloudier across the northeast of the region with some showers, wintry inland. Feeling cold, particularly in the morning with brisk winds. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers soon clearing, leaving a dry but cold evening. However, cloud will steadily increase, with patchy rain spreading southeast from midnight. Initially this may fall as snow over higher ground. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Friday:
Starting cloudy with fog on hills and patchy rain and drizzle. This clearing southeastwards from late morning, allowing sunny spells to develop. Slightly milder than recent days, with light winds. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A chilly weekend with sunny spells and showers, wintry on hills. Strong winds and coastal gales are possible Saturday night into Sunday. Rain and hill snow spreading east on Monday.
